Alex,

I'm sorry but I am unable to pay for flights to send Adriana & Jordan to Florida. As you are aware I am unemployed and have been since February. I cannot collect unemployment as I was forced to resign. There is no income coming into the household and I have used every last bit of savings for the three of us to survive. Although you pay $600 per month for two children it is not sufficient to cover their overhead costs.

Jordan is in summer school, so that does not make it any better. And Adriana got a job which makes her incentive to go anywhere obsolete.

I hope something positive happens in the near future but for now, and until things improve economically it is simply unrealistic and absolutely impossible.

Any questions? Feel free to call or e-mail.

Valerie
